DETAILED ACTION

This application, filed April 21, 1999, claims benefit to provisional applications: 60/082,665 filed April 22, 1998, 60/111,635 filed December 9, 1998, and 60/11,637 filed December 9, 1998.

Applicants' amendment filed August 25, 2003 has been received and entered. Claims 49, 80 and 81 have been canceled. Claims 38, 42, 69, 71-73 and 82 have been amended. Claims 38-44, 46-48, 50, 51, 69-79, 82-87 are pending and currently under examination.

Reasons for Allowance

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The amendment to claim 42 has obviated the objection the claim. The amendments to independent claims 38 and 69 has differentiated the claimed invention from that disclosed by Son et al. and obviated the basis of the rejection of claims 38-44, 47, 48, 50, 69-73, 79 and 84-86 made under 35 U.S.C. 102(b). With respect to the rejection of claims 38-44, 47, 48, 50, 69-73 and 78, 79, 82-86 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roth et al., Son et al. and Walker et al., and claims 74-77 and 87 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roth et al., Son et al. and Bally et al. Applicants argue that in light of the new claim amendments and in view of the lack of success for the specific cell cycle blocking agents taught in Roth et al. recited and encompassed by the claims, there would be no motivation or expectation of success to combine the teachings of Walker et al., Son et al. and Bally et al. for the specific lipid formulations. Examiner agrees that the teaching of Roth et al. would not lead one to expect that the agents cyclophosphamide, taxol, taxolene or a vinca alkaloid could be combined with the delivery systems taught in Walker et al., Son et al. and Bally et al. to provide for a successful method of introducing a nucleic acid sequence into a cell of a patient. The lack of success provided in the teaching of Roth et al. would not provide the motivation or expectation of success provided in the instant disclosure for the particular combination of cell cycle blockers and lipid formulations encompassed by the instant claims.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
